

Final Product Marking the Mint's 225th Anniversary Goes on Sale on October 19

October 12, 2017

WASHINGTON – The United States Mint will begin accepting orders for the American Liberty 225th Anniversary Silver Four-Medal Set (product code 17XD) on October 19 at noon Eastern Time (ET). The set is the fourth and final product released this year to mark this milestone in the bureau's history.

Minted in 99.9 percent silver, each medal in this set bears a unique finish and mint mark of the respective United States Mint facility where it was produced:

- San Francisco Mint, "S" mint mark, proof finish
- Philadelphia Mint, "P" mint mark, reverse proof finish
- Denver Mint, "D" mint mark, uncirculated finish
- West Point Mint, "W" mint mark, enhanced uncirculated finish.

The medals feature a modern rendition of Liberty on the common obverse (heads), by Artistic Infusion Program (AIP) Designer Justin Kunz. Kunz's design depicts a profile of Liberty wearing a crown of stars with the inscriptions "LIBERTY," "1792," and "2017." United States Mint Sculptor-Engraver Phebe Hemphill sculpted the design.

The medals' reverse (tails), by AIP Designer Chris Costello, depicts a bold and powerful eagle in flight, with eyes toward opportunity and a determination to attain it. The inscription is "UNITED STATES OF AMERICA." United States Mint Sculptor-Engraver Michael Gaudioso sculpted the design.

All four medals are encapsulated and placed in a custom-designed black presentation case, accompanied by a companion booklet.

Mintage is limited to 50,000 sets, with orders limited of two sets per household.

The American Liberty 225th Anniversary Silver Four-Medal Set is priced at $199.95.
